EASTER MEDITATION

As old as Christianity and as new as space satellites, is the divine drama of Easter weekend in which the Crucifixion of Good Friday is followed by the resurrection of Easter Sunday. Christians everywhere will meditate on the Gospels' account of the road to Calvary tomorrow and the triumphant dawn of new life and hope, Sunday morning. For the list of Easter weekend services in Penticton churches, see pages two and three. (Herald photo by Owen Templeton)

Recess Ends Peppery Freight Rate Debate

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament's Easter recess offers an 11-day respite to Commons members, inflamed over freight rates, federal financial aid to Newfoundland and St. Lawrence Canal layoffs.

Before the Commons recessed Wednesday until April 6 there was a short-lived hint of violence as Lionel Chevrier (L—Montreal Laurier) challenged Fred Stinson (PC—York Centre) to "come on over here and I will show him."

Commons Speaker Roland Michener cooled off the disputants, at odds on the issue of why men are being laid off canal jobs along the St. Lawrence River between Montreal and Lake Ontario.

ATTACK RAIL SUBSIDY

Mr. Chevrier conceded he had lost his temper a trifle quickly, but later joined CCF House Leader Hazen Argue in breaking a few lances with Transport Minister Hees over the government's proposed $20,000,000 subsidy to the railways to mitigate the effects of last fall's 17-percent freight rate increase. Mr. Chevrier said the subsidy is a stop-gap measure. "It is nothing more than the kind of solution that the government has applied to all problems. It allows all major problems to develop to a state of crisis before it acts and then it acts by writing out another cheque."

Mr. Argue said this is a "bits-and-pieces" government. He accused it of tossing the "hot potato" of freight rates to a royal commission. Then it would hide behind the commission, hoping people would forget it had broken its election promise to equalize freight rates.

"Canadians are fed up to the teeth with royal commissions," said Mr. Argue.

INTERIM MEASURE

Mr. Hees said the proposed legislation is an interim measure, providing $20,000,000 over a 12-month period. It was estimated the subsidy would permit a reduction of some seven percentage points, making the authorized increase in freight rates about 10 per cent instead of 17.

Mr. Hees said the government did not propose to permit any further general increases in railway freight rates. An application for an increase now is before the board of transport commissioners.

Mr. Argue said the government should set up a national transportation authority, with a policy of equalizing freight rates and making them apply equitably to all parts of Canada.

For 20 minutes of the freight rates debate, a woman was in the chair. Margaret Aitken (PC—York—Humber) substituted for Charles E. Rea (PC—Toronto Spadina), deputy chairman of committees. She is believed the first woman to act as Commons chairman.

STIRRING THINGS UP TO BOOST BAND FUNDS

When it comes to stirring things up Barbara Fudge, left, and Lynne Bothe are adept. This time it's for the home baking sale to be held on Saturday by Home Economics students of Summerland high school in aid of the school band.

RCMP Corporal A. W. Wieslow said there was a chance Mrs. Weinholt survived in an air pocket under the crushing weight of snow. He said there were no survivors.

BRALORNE, B.C. (CP)—The body of Christa Weinholt, 26, was recovered today by searchers probing the avalanche which swept her and her husband to their death Tuesday.

BRALORNE, B.C. (CP)—Search for a young German immigrant woman missing in an avalanche area, 15 miles south-west of here, entered its third day today.

Searchers feared Mrs. Christa Weinholt, 26, met the same fate as her 31-year-old husband, Helmut, whose body was found Wednesday huddled under tons of snow.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Grace liner Santa Rosa, bringing home 247 passengers from a happy Caribbean cruise, collided early today with the empty oil tanker Valchem off Atlantic City, N.J. One tanker crew member was killed and five injured.

No one was injured aboard the 16,000-ton cruise ship, which also carried a crew of 265. But a fire broke out in the paint room in the forward part of the vessel. This was kept from spreading but difficulty was encountered in extinguishing it.

Although a number of other ships raced to the scene, neither the Santa Rosa nor the 10,416-ton Valchem was said to be in any danger of sinking.

At one point it was said the cruise liner's passengers might be transferred to a sister ship, the Santa Clara, to continue their voyage to New York. Grace Line officials said later that this would not be done unless for some reason it should become absolutely necessary.

TANKER DISABLED
The Valchem was reported disabled and awaiting tugs to take it in tow.

The coast guard said the Santa Rosa's bow sliced half way through the tanker in the engine room section near the stern when the vessels came together at 3 a.m. some 22 miles east of Atlantic City.

GOVERNMENT ASKED TO CONTROL POLLUTION

FINAL EPISODE IN TRAGEDY

Second Victim's Body Found in Avalanche

The fatally injured crew member of the tanker was said to have died of burns. The injured were not believed badly hurt.

BRALORNE, B.C. (CP)—The paint room fire aboard the Santa Rosa was described as "still smouldering" at 6:15 a.m. An extra supply of chemical fire extinguishers was being flown to the liner by helicopter.

The coast guard had a seaplane surveying the scene, and it sent five cutters.

B.C.'s Top Mountie To Get New Post

OTTAWA (CP) — The RCMP's British Columbia chief, Assistant Commissioner Clifford Walter Harrison, today was named deputy commissioner of the force.

The announcement, by outgoing Commissioner L. H. Nicholson, said the 58-year-old Mountie veteran will be transferred to RCMP headquarters here shortly to take over his new post April 1.

'All is Quiet' Declares Ashe

At press time today, no further developments have been reported in the dispute between Richard Ashe, Kaleden fruit grower and the Provincial Highways Department.

Mr. Ashe reports construction is being carried out on the land adjacent to his property, but otherwise "all is quiet."

Bert Fitzpatrick, president of Construction, the road building firm, stated he "still couldn't care less. It has nothing to do with me. We'll work as far as we can until a settlement is reached."

Tom Clarke, resident engineer for the Highways Department, was not available for comment.

Junior College in Pr. George Asked

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—The school board here will seek approval from education minister Leslie Peterson for establishment in Prince George of a junior college for northern British Columbia.

Delegates Rule Out Regulated Area

B.C. government will be asked to take over pollution control in the Okanagan watershed, delegates representing the entire valley decided last night at Penticton City Hall.

Extension of provisions of the "Pollution Control Act" to cover the Okanagan will be asked soon by a delegation headed by Kelowna's Mayor Dick Parkinson.

A meeting March 10 resolved to form a Land and Water Resources Protection Board to govern health hazards.

But delegates took a second look at the problem last night and altered their original proposal.

NO REGULATED AREA
They also shelved a proposal to make the entire Okanagan Valley a regulated area.

Instead, representatives will ask the government to extend jurisdiction of its Pollution Control Board to cover the Okanagan watershed from the border north.

The board presently controls only the Fraser river west of Hope.

Fears that a regulated area or a Resources Protection Board would entice chlorination of irrigation water, were expressed by several delegates.

NO JURISDICTION
Nick Mattick, inspector of the Kelowna Regulated Area, pointed out that a regulated area covering the whole Okanagan would be hampered by the fact that it would have no jurisdiction in or-

PROVINCE IN MOURNING

Smallwood Cries 'Greatest Betrayal'

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—This capital city of Canada's newest province was in mourning today for what Premier Smallwood called a "betrayal" by the federal government.

Workers draped Newfoundland government buildings in black. Flags flew at half-staff. Some 1,200 Memorial University students left their classes to raise a black flag on the campus.

It was the first time mourning had been proclaimed in Newfoundland since King George VI died in 1952.

Premier Smallwood said Wednesday night that Prime Minister Diefenbaker "plunged Newfoundland into mourning" with his announcement that the province will get $36,500,000 in federal grants between now and March 31, 1962. After that, the prime minister told the C.M.A.S., "Newfoundland's position can be considered in the light of the general methods of providing financial assistance to the province which may be in effect at that time."

PROVINCE SHOCKED
Mr. Smallwood said "Newfoundlanders are stunned by the Canadian government's betrayal of Newfoundland."

"Prime Minister Diefenbaker's statement on what his administration intends to do to honor the terms of Confederation plunged Newfoundland into mourning for another Canadian obligation outraged by Mr. Diefenbaker."

Chesley A. Crosby, who with Mr. Smallwood was a member of the seven-man Newfoundland delegation which negotiated the terms of confederation, said today he was not surprised by the Ottawa announcement.

"I had no faith in that contract at the time and time has borne me out," Mr. Crosby was the only delegate to disagree with the terms of union of Newfoundland and Canada.

Unions Meet Amid Air of Uncertainty

By IAN MACDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer
CORNER BROOK, Nfld. (CP)—Twenty unions representing workers in this western Newfoundland area prepared today to discuss support of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) which went on strike against the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company Dec. 31.

Meanwhile, the possibility of new violence arose with the announcement by Max Lane, a Liberal member of the legislature and temporary president of the Independent Newfoundland Brotherhood of Woods-Workers, that his union organizers will move into the Corner Brook area "within the next 10 days."

MAY MOVE SOONER
He said it is possible the NBWW could move in sooner to seek members in this IWA stronghold. The Brotherhood so far has concentrated on organizing in central Newfoundland.

Mr. Lane said the 8,000-member NBWW has its legal advisers working to decide whether the union will negotiate directly with Bowater's pulp and paper mill or 60 independent contractors who hire 2,000 loggers to cut wood for the mill here.

TB Research Project Starts After Easter

Dr. D. A. Clarke, medical officer of health for the South Okanagan Health Unit announced today that a tuberculosis research project survey will be held in the Oliver, Osoyoos and Okanagan Falls areas this spring. The project will start immediately following Easter and will be completed by the end of May. Every school child in the area will be given a tuberculosis allergy test. If found to have been infected with the germs that cause TB the child will be given free chest x-rays. Adults will also receive both the allergy test and an x-ray. SIMPLE, PAINLESS Dr. C. C. McLean, director of surveys, will be the physician in charge of the survey. He demonstrated the allergy test at an organizational meeting in Oliver Tuesday by testing Dr. Clarke. His description of the test was "a simple, painless allergy test that can provide us with the next big step in tuberculosis control. Tranquille Sanatorium has been closed. This test could help us to close Pearson and the Willow Chest sanatoriums." The research project will be conducted by the provincial department of health, Division of Tuberculosis Control in co-operation with the B.C. Tuberculosis Society (Christmas Seals) and the South Okanagan Health Unit.

District Resident Since 1910, Dies

Funeral services are being held this afternoon from Pentiction Funeral Chapel for Mrs. Evelyn Mary Rogers, 85, who died in Pentiction General Hospital yesterday. A resident of Summerland and Pentiction for the past 48 years, Mrs. Rogers was well known throughout the Okanagan and active in a number of community organizations. Born in Ontario, Aug. 9, 1873, Mrs. Rogers taught school in Manitoba for 10 years following graduation from Wesley University. She came to Summerland in 1910 with her first husband, the late W. J. Robinson, moving to Pentiction in the early 1920's and then to Vancouver in 1927. On the death of Mr. Robinson in 1927, his widow returned to Pentiction where she has resided since. She was predeceased by her second husband, G. B. Rogers, in August of last year. Mrs. Rogers was past president of both the Summerland and Pentiction Women's Institutes; secretary of the Federated Women's Institute, and a member of the Pentiction Jubilee Chapter IODE. She was also a member of St. Saviour's W.A. Mrs. Rogers is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Tom Daly of Pentiction; two sons, Frank Robinson of Osoyoos and Stanley Robinson of Red Deer, Alberta; one stepson, William of Naramata; seven grandchildren; and three brothers in Manitoba, Edgar, Roy and Walter Peacock. Canon A. R. Eagles is officiating at the funeral services. Interment will be in Lakeview Cemetery.

TALK OF THE VALLEY

LETTER OF THANKS is going out to Trout Creek resident John Kison from Summerland Council. John donated his time and boat to help engineer Harley Hatfield in his survey of erosion at Trout Creek.

TROUBLE with printing an error is that you can be reminded of it for all eternity. In Vancouver, the Sir Ernest MacMillan Fine Arts Club is chuckling over our issue of February 21, in which we referred to Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan as Ernest MacMillan. The noted conductor had it passed on to him in Vancouver this week.

KELOWNA LIONS CLUB has begun its "Operation Disaster," stockpiling usable clothing and household articles to assist local families which may be left homeless through fire or disaster.

SOUVENIR OF SUMMERLAND was presented last night to art teacher Mrs. M. A. Grigby of Oyma, who has conducted night school art classes at Summerland High for the past few months. Members of her drawing and painting class gave her a souvenir spoon.

EVERYONE'S INVITED to a smoker being sponsored by the Pentiction Vets' Hockey Club early next month. The fund-raising event will be held in the Canadian Legion building April 3 at 8 p.m. Entertainment is slated.

KEREMEOS OLDTIMERS have just heard of the death of Edgar F. Corbet in Victoria, March 18. Mr. Corbet, who had lived in retirement at Ganges in the Gulf Islands, was manager of the Keremeos Bank of Commerce in the early 'twenties.

A CONFERENCE ON GENETICS — the science of heredity — has occupied Dr. C. J. Bishop, superintendent of the Summerland Experimental Farm, for the past while in Ottawa. Dr. Bishop is expected back in the next day or two.

NEW WHARF for Summerland is almost completed, reports Councillor Norman Holmes. Powell Beach wharf lacks only top planking. Washroom also has been constructed at Powell Beach.

BOYS' TOWN will be explained this evening on CBC television when director Cliff Moore and several administrators appear. The ranch is 1,000 acres of cultivated and wooded land 14 miles east of Hope.

Hope and Triumph of Easter to Be Renewed in City Churches

St. Ann's to Hold Night-Long Vigil

An all-night vigil will be kept by parishioners of St. Ann's Catholic Church in Pentiction tonight and tomorrow as part of the Holy Week observances in preparation for Easter Sunday.

By pre-arrangement, Knights of Columbus, Catholic Women's League members and other parishioners will come to the church at different times throughout the night and each will spend at least an hour in prayer and meditation on the events of Christ's betrayal, tortures and Crucifixion.

Preceding the start of the vigil this evening, there will be a high mass, the mass of the Lord's Supper beginning at 6:30 p.m. During the mass the Blessed Sacrament will be moved from the tabernacle on the main altar and placed in a repository.

At 9 p.m. the night vigil will begin, continuing until 3 p.m. tomorrow when parishioners will participate in the annual Good Friday ceremonies. Following this liturgy, which lasts about an hour and a half, the altar will be stripped and the church left empty.

"This is to symbolize the emptiness of the world with the death of Jesus Christ on the cross until His Resurrection," explains Rev. F. Quinlan, pastor.

NEW FIRE BLESSED The church will remain dark and empty until 11 p.m. Saturday when the Easter Vigil services will begin. These include blessing of the new fire and the lighting of the Paschal Candle.

"The Paschal candle will be lighted in the vestibule," Father Quinlan explains, "and as the procession bearing it comes into the darkened church, it pauses three times.

"After each pause, the deacon sings 'Lumen Christi' (light of Christ). After the first pause, the candle which the priest holds in his hand is lit. After the second pause, the candles carried by the other clergy are lit. After the third pause, those held by the congregation will be lighted.

"All these will be lit from the one Paschal candle which will then be placed in a stand in the middle of the sanctuary while the priest sings: 'Exultet' (rejoice).

MIDNIGHT MASS The litany of the Saints follows. Midway through the litany is the blessing of the baptismal waters and public renewal of baptismal vows by all the people.

The Easter Vigil Mass at midnight follows these ceremonies with four other Easter Sunday masses following at the regular times of 8, 9, 10 and 11 a.m.

Keremeos Woman's Father Dies at 87 KEREMEOS — Local residents have learned of the death of Arthur George Hutchinson-Breithaupt, 87, in Vancouver, March 20.

Mr. Breithaupt is survived by his wife, Elizabeth and one daughter, Mrs. K. A. Weller of Keremeos; three granddaughters and four great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Breithaupt have frequently visited Mr. and Mrs. Weller and family here.

Events of Jesus Christ's Passion and Death on the Cross will be told in song and music in Pentiction. United Church tomorrow evening.

The church's senior choir and soloists, directed by Monica Craig-Fisher, will present the cantata "The Passion of Christ" by Arthur Somervell, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The general public is invited to participate in this Good Friday feature, marking the closing days of Lent.

PROMENADE CALENDAR Summerland Pairs and Squares were hosts at a very enjoyable square dance party last Saturday. Many Pentiction couples were in attendance, as well as guests from other Valley points.

Emcee Ed and Irene Stebor did an excellent job of entertaining. A delicious buffet supper was served by the host club.

APPROPRIATE DANCE This Saturday, March 28, square dance enthusiasts will be heading for the Athletic hall in Peachland, which will be the locale of the big dance in appreciation of Ray Frederickson, who is ill. So get your tickets early for this gala event.

Also on the same date, Peach City Promenaders of Pentiction will be having their last class of the season, and it is hoped to have a good turnout, to wind up a very successful season of classes and parties.

Monday, March 23 was graduation night for Les Boyers' Monday night classes. The whole class passed with honors, and each couple was presented with a handsome diploma with congratulations from Les and Ruth. The group thanked their teacher for being such a patient and able instructor, and Les replied to the effect that he and Ruth enjoyed every minute of it. Sandwiches, lemon tarts and coffee were shared by students and teachers to wind up the evening.

As reported last week, a new series of square and round dance classes will commence on Monday, April 6, with Les Boyer as instructor. The first lesson will be in the form of a party night, and will be held in the north IOOF hall, starting at 7:30 p.m.

All dancers cordially invited, and it is hoped that many couples from other classes which are now finished will take advantage of this new session to have fun and at the same time learn all the new squares and rounds.

The first square dance workshop sponsored by the Okanagan Square Dance Association was held last Saturday in Summerland's Youth Centre hall. A callers' and teachers' organization was formed with Percy Coulter of Pentiction as chairman and Alberta Phelps of Oliver as secretary.

Couples from points all up and down the valley came and enjoyed learning some of the popular dances of the season.

There are four square dance parties scheduled for Saturday, April 4, at Oliver, Kelowna, Endersby and Sorrento. So pay your money and take your choice!

Physiotherapist Leaving By J. A. RCAF and will be leaving us in April. On every hand, we hear high praise of her skill and her indefatigable attention to those in her care. She will be posted to one of four places, Trenton, Ottawa, Cold Lake, or to Germany, and will of course be serving in her own professional capacity.

SPEEDY REPLACEMENT Here in Pentiction, we are assured of a speedy replacement so that there should be no long lapse in the care of those suffering from arthritis and kindred ills. At the same time, we are urged to keep before the girls leaving school, the merits of physiotherapy as a possible career.

VALLEY-WIDE YOUTH RALLY

Young people from Salvation Army units at Pentiction, Kelowna, Vernon and Kamloops will observe Good Friday at a Youth Councils rally in Rutland United Church tomorrow.

Similar to the rally last year, this year's event has been keenly awaited by Salvation Army Young People.

During the day, three sessions will be held including addresses, Bible quizzes, musical items, papers on set subjects read by delegates and showing of excellent films from Vancouver and Toronto.

Guest speaker for the day will be Capt. A. Jarvie, former commanding officer at Kelowna who is now taking special studies at New Westminster.

Keremeos-Cawston Growers Hear Alf Biech Proposals KEREMEOS — A total of 68 Keremeos and Cawston growers attended a meeting called by the Okanagan-Kootenay Co-operative Growers' Association here, chaired by Stirling Hauser of Pentiction, president, and featuring Alf Biech of Oliver as principal speaker.

Mr. Biech said the OKGA was not trying to do away with central selling but rather wanted to give every grower a share and ballot in Tree Fruit affairs. He said there would be no release dates for apples but rather they would be immediately made available after picking.

Mr. Biech was accorded a standing ovation at the conclusion of the meeting.

Speakers' Club Members Tested at Annual Banquet SUMMERLAND — Tuesday night was oral examination night for members of the Speakers' Club at their annual banquet with wives and friends.

Club members practised what they had been taught during the winter sessions. Results were all good, many with honorable mentions, according to the guests.

A. C. Fleming was chairman for the evening welcoming and introducing visitors.

Low Wright proposed a toast to the ladies with Mrs. H. R. McLarty responding.

Charlie Denike gave a toast to the visitors to which W. G. Gilard, president of the board of trade responded.

Talks were given by club members on subjects of their own choice. Those who spoke were Lorne Bloomfield, K. O. Lapins, A. Sawatski, G. E. Logie, J. E. Wright, S. R. Skippings and Franklin Stent.

Through the more than 20 years of its existence, the club has operated in a friendly way to help many men become more articulate.

Mr. Fleming mentioned Walter M. Wright as the guide, philosopher and friend of the society.

Catering for the turkey dinner was by the LOBA.

Bruce Fry Heads Oliver O's and 8's Dance Club OLIVER — The O's and 8's Square Dance club of Oliver held its annual meeting at the home of Ann and Art Petterman, following a pot luck supper.

During the business meeting, Bruce Fry was elected president with Ann Petterman being named vice-president and Wilf Mitchell, secretary-treasurer.

Directors elected were Lloyd Fairweather and Laird Wright. Roberta Phelps was voted in as librarian and Marguerite Rothelsler, reporter.

At coffee time George and Elsie Kelly were presented with a going away gift.

Monday night the last weekly square dance for the season was held with a good attendance and Ed Stebor as emcee. Refreshments were served by Barbara, Iris and Doug Smithers.

Plans for the big Jamboree to be held April 4 at 8 p.m. at the community hall include a floor show by Buddy Taft and his dancers. All square dancers are welcome and a good time is in store for all.

A Bright Lesson in Pride From the Kaleden Grower

Whatever the rights and wrongs of the dispute between Richard Ashe and the provincial highways department it is nice to know that the little man of Canada still has the power, if he has the courage, to obtain a hearing.

Mr. Ashe's challenge to the growling might of a bulldozer yesterday is by no means new. It seems that hardly a month goes by without some property owner deciding the deal given him by the government is unfair. Sometimes they build fences, sometimes they sit down on the steps of the legislature, and sometimes, like Mr. Ashe, they just invite the bulldozers to run over them.

It speaks well for our form of government that at such times contractors leave the angry property owner in an oasis of inactivity while they merrily progress with the work in hand on either side of his property lines.

In this age of automation and sheep-like following of the government by the masses it becomes downright refreshing to hear of a lone individual saying "They will not come through."

Possibly we should condemn Mr. Ashe for delaying an important project. Or maybe we should condemn the government for starting a project before all the loose ends were neatly tied. We find it difficult to do either. Rather we rejoice that Canadian government still has enough democracy in its thinking to listen to an individual's protest, and that some Canadians still have enough courage to stand alone and defy government when they feel they have received a raw deal.

Support for Local Drives

The U.S. magazine Newsweek last week touched upon a matter which is giving most newspaper editors increasing concern, not only in the U.S. but in Canada as well. Is there too much organized begging, the magazine asked and went on to point out that the matter had been seriously discussed in the bulletin of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Of the twenty-four editors who expressed opinions in the roundup all felt there is too much begging. One editor said that his paper must contend with "50 organizations devoted to the ills of every part of the body . . . The time seems to have passed when foundation promoters were primarily interested in combating disease. The purpose today is to get the money and to ride roughshod over local chapters which prefer to stick to appropriations from Community Chest or United Funds . . . The more editors study this situation, with the constant appeals for space, the more realization there will be we are dupes of professional money raisers preying on human misery."

Those are strong words and perhaps are not as warranted in Canada as in the United States. Nevertheless the general pattern is the same and in this country there is a steady trend toward more and more appeals. While most of the causes are good causes, certainly there are some which provoke reasonable doubts. Certainly, too, all these campaigns — or at least the great majority — should be participants in the Community Chest or United Fund drives.

This newspaper is ready and anxious to help any legitimate and worthwhile local campaign, but a few years ago, so many organizations were seeking to use its columns to extract money from local citizens, it was forced to adopt a simple rule: it will give no consideration whatsoever to a campaign which has no active local committee. If there is an active local committee support will be considered and, if given, will be given on the merits of the organization as assessed by us.

Generous space has been provided most — we are tempted to say "all" — local campaigns in the past; such support will still be forthcoming, subject to the minor restriction mentioned above.

Outer Space — Who's There?

From a stationary earth to flying saucers, from Ptolemy to Galileo to Copernicus — to Rear Admiral George Dufek (and you can tuck quite a few others in between). But what we are saying is that the ever-expanding capability of mankind to think beyond itself is one of the things that keep us hopeful.

Even where this capability stretches objectivity to the point of irrelevance, it still has reassuring aspects. We are thinking of a physicist who answered a question regarding the possible nuclear destruction of the planet Earth.

"Yes," he said, "it theoretically could happen if a chain reaction among nuclear piles were accidentally set off." Then he added philosophically, "But it isn't as if the earth were one of the major planets."

Now Admiral Dufek has shown in a more applicable way this same capacity for taking the superuniversal view of things. Retiring as commander of the United States research and exploration program in the Antarctic,

Admiral Dufek at Wellington, New Zealand, made this comment about flying saucers, which he believes may possibly have been launched from other planets:

"I think it is very stupid for human beings to think no one else in the universe is as intelligent as we are."

And that's why we mentioned Ptolemy, who, while mistaken, was thinking in bigger terms than most of his contemporaries. And Galileo, who disputed the Ptolemaic theory that the earth is the center of the universe around which all else revolves. Galileo got into trouble with church authorities and had to recant, under threat of torture, a teaching that put the earth and its earthlings "in their place," as it were. But Copernicus later backed him up.

And so the humilifying—not humilifying—process of thinking bigger has kept the human mind reaching beyond its own supposed limits. Well said, Admiral Dufek!

Segregation Policy Gets New Look

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — The members of Parliament represent the South African government, with one ear turned to the disquieting sounds of racial violence in the north, is moving swiftly to give its apartheid (segregation) policy a new look.

Bloodshed along the Congo River and the heightening unrest in Nyasaland have added a note of urgency to the government's program. Thousands of Nyasaland Africans work in South African mines.

Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd is pushing through Parliament a bill to establish a Bantu development corporation with an initial capital of almost $1,500,000. Funds of the corporation would be used to develop five Bantu "national homes" of South African Negro population. The government is also sponsoring a bill to end the present system under which white members of Parliament represent the South African government, with one ear turned to the disquieting sounds of racial violence in the north, is moving swiftly to give its apartheid (segregation) policy a new look.

Under the government's plan, the Negroes then will govern themselves through a complicated system of local headmen and chiefs, regional and territorial authorities "under white guardianship."

His political opponents have described the Bantu development as "cheeked and chin."

A royal commission which made an exhaustive study of the African reserves several years ago concluded that it would require an expenditure of $291,200,000 over a 10-year period to develop them adequately.

REPORT FROM THE U.K.

Toastmasters Are Annoyed

By M. McINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.) Correspondent
For The Herald

LONDON — Sir Harold Gillett, Lord Mayor of London, has scandalized lovers of old traditions in the city over which he presides, and has won for himself severe criticism from the president of the Society of London Toastmasters. He became tired of the lengthy preamble uttered by the professional toastmasters at official dinners in introducing every speaker. At a dinner to the Masters and Wardens of the Livery Companies, an ancient and distinguished body, he ordered that the traditional formal preamble be uttered only for the first speech of the evening.

At many functions which I have attended, I have been intrigued by the lengthy introduction, given in a sonorous tone of voice, by a red-coated toastmaster standing behind the chairman. At the dinner in question, it would go something like this:

"My Lord Mayor, Your Grace, Your Excellencies, My Lords, Aldermen, Sheriffs, Ladies and Gentlemen, I pray you give silence for —" then would follow the name of the speaker to be introduced.

AN ANCIENT CUSTOM. This all follows ancient custom, and it has, up to now, been recognized as the right thing to do at top-level functions. The professional toastmaster is a recognized craftsman. It is his job to render this preamble and to do it impressively. And all of those whom we have heard do it have really been impressive.

Sir Harold Gillett, as Lord Mayor of London, averages about four or five official dinners every week. He has, since taking office, heard this long preamble at least 20 to 25 times a week. It is not surprising that he at last rebelled against it — the first Lord Mayor of London to do so. On his instructions, at the dinner to which I have referred, he allowed it to be delivered for the first speech only. After that, the subsequent speeches had only a three-word preamble, "My Lord Mayor."

This innovation has been received with mixed feelings. One guest, at the dinner, said: "A break with tradition — deplorable."

But another said: "First class: who wants to listen to a string of phrases repeated half a dozen times or more."

SOCIETY OBJECTS. The Society of London Toastmasters, however, is very much annoyed. After all, if it became general, it might mean the end of their calling. Their president, Harold Dean, says:

"It would be a great pity, almost a tragedy, to break the old tradition. The string of titles is something that visitors, especially foreigners, like to hear though I am all against giving out the individual honours of the speaker."

For my part, I rather like the old traditional way, not so much for the length of the preamble as for the magnificent way in which the professional toastmasters intoned the words.

FOOD INTO ENERGY. Actually, you will find that by working at a slower pace you probably will be able to do jobs that ordinarily might be too hard on you.

Your body, you see, needs oxygen to turn the food you have eaten into energy. Oxygen is carried in the blood which is pumped through your body by your heart.

Working fast means that you burn oxygen at a faster rate. Thus, your heart must pump faster to get fresh supplies of oxygen-carrying blood to the tissues of your body.

HEART SPEED-UP. By working more slowly, your heart can work at its normal pace. Thus a speed-up for you also means a speed-up for your heart.

It is easy to tell when you are working too fast. If your work makes you short of breath, causes pain in your chest, slows down. Either you are working too fast or the work is too hard for you.

Rest is very important for persons doing physical labor. If you can, it might be a good idea to rest for about five minutes every hour. And don't kid yourself into thinking that simply changing the type of work will have the same effect as a brief rest. It won't.

Act your age, whether playing or working. You must realize that you can't work at the same rate forever. As you grow older, your heart and lungs can't work as efficiently as they did in your youth.

While we can't make any hard and fast rules, it is generally true that at the age of 50 your work capacity will be only about 70 per cent of what it was when you

OTTAWA REPORT

National Gallery In Spotlight

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

Our National Gallery of Art, which has been under several spotlights recently, came under the glare of Parliamentary attention on various occasions again this month.

CCF leader Hazen Argue started a series of probing questions by asking how much the Gallery has cost the taxpayer in each of the past twenty years; the answer showed that next year's budget will be twenty times the annual cost between 1940 and 1943. That is not necessarily a bad thing, but Mr. Argue, perhaps prompted by a recent magazine article asking "Is Jarvis mis-spending our Art millions?" sought to know what qualifications Alan Jarvis possesses to fit him for the post of director of the Gallery; the answer did not disclose that he has had any previous experience in curatorship or management of an art gallery.

Sarnia's MP, Mr. J. W. Murphy, continued his survey of the sky-rocketing costs at the Gallery. And on two days Liberal spokesmen charged the Government with repudiating a contract to buy a certain painting for the Gallery; but the Government proved that there was no such contract.

That widely-reported episode centered around the painting "Christ appearing to the Apostles" by the 16th century Dutch artist, Pieter Breughel the Elder. Its owner, Baron von Poelnitz, had valued the picture at $500,000; as long ago as January, 1957, Jarvis had discussed with the Baron's agent its possible purchase for our Gallery.

BROUHAHA AND WORLD HA-HA

After the change of government, Jarvis sought Cabinet approval to continue his enquiries, but at first permission was not given. Then last May, Justice Minister Davie Fulton told Parliament, Jarvis reopened the subject, seeking authority to find out if this picture could be bought for $350,000; and if so, whether another painting, "Madonna" by Lorenzo Monaco, could be bought for $90,000. He told Cabinet that $441,000 had been appropriated by the previous government, and was available to be used for this purpose.

On that understanding, Jarvis was given authority just to negotiate the prices, but not, so Hon. Ellen Fairclough assured Parliament, authority to make a firm offer.

Then the Cabinet found out that in fact, there was not $441,000 available from the previous government's appropriations; it decided not to ask Parliament for money for such costly paintings in this difficult year.

But meanwhile, intentionally or otherwise, Jarvis had exceeded his authority in his negotiations, in such manner that Poelnitz's agent claimed that he had understood that Jarvis was making him a firm offer of $350,000 for the Broughel.

No matter what Jarvis might have said to him, the taxpayers of Canada were not committed to a contract to buy the painting, because Jarvis had not been given authority to enter into a contract on behalf of Canada, and because the Cabinet lacked Parliament's authority to spend that money. Nevertheless, when it was announced that Canada did not propose to buy that painting, there was an uproar in the art world of two continents, and Poelnitz's lawyer called on Cabinet Ministers, and the Baron came to Ottawa himself in an attempt to talk to the Prime Minister.

BREAD BEFORE BREUGHELS. This imbroglio over the Breughel painting from Jarvis' telling the Cabinet something which was not true, and then exceeding his authority as explained above, according to explanations given to Parliament by two Cabinet Ministers, Mrs. Ellen Fairclough and Mr. Davie Fulton.

Some people associated with the world of art have completely unpractical minds, incapable of understanding business matters. Such people would be unable to grasp the need for Parliament to go through the ordained procedure of appropriating money before the Cabinet can spend out of the taxpayers' pockets. But the director of the Gallery is evidently not an unpractical and astute Ontario-born Jarvis, in the course of his varied career, has been employed in the aircraft industry and in the film industry, where he presumably became familiar with basic business practice. He also served as private secretary to the socialist politician, Sir Stafford Cripps, when he was Minister of Trade in the British Government. As a Cabinet Minister's aide, Jarvis would have had the opportunity to make himself familiar with the basic parliamentary processes at Westminster, which are not dissimilar from those at Ottawa.

Most taxpayers will approve of the decision taken by the Government in this case, namely that under present conditions of widespread unemployment, the taxpayers' money should be spent on bread, not on Breughels. As Prime Minister John Diefenbaker declared three months ago, the Government is of the opinion that, with many pressing calls, the expenditure of $500,000 of the taxpayers' money on two paintings would not be justified.

Big Show Staged For Soviet Leader

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BERLIN (CP) — The Communists pull out all the stops when they put on a show for a leader of the stature of Nikita Khrushchev.

A Canadian newspaper group, on a visit to Germany, was in Berlin when Khrushchev arrived for his early March visit to the eastern sector of the city and attended the giant reception rally. The people of East Berlin hung out flags by the thousands but to the Canadian observers the color of the bunting appeared to be the warmest part of the reception.

Unseasonably mild weather, curiosity and the Communist organization behind such rallies brought out a crowd—estimated by Western sources to be 100,000, by Eastern to be 300,000—to the brightly-lit Stalinallee, the show street of otherwise drab East Berlin.

Searchlights played on the fronts of the eight-story apartment blocks that border both sides of the wide boulevard. Red flags and banners and the red, black and gold colors of Germany flew from windows and lamp posts.

Fireworks lighted the sky and bands blared martial music through loudspeakers. Flaming torches were paraded ahead of Khrushchev's motorcade to the platform from which he spoke, his short figure dwarfed by a giant picture of himself at his back.

For two hours before his arrival, there was organized entertainment on platforms set up at street corners. There were judo demonstrations, folk singing and dancing, gymnastic displays, poetry recitations and other cultural activities.

For East Berliners whose entertainment is limited unless they cross over to West Berlin for the evening, it was a gala night. There was no questioning the buildup before the 9:15 p.m. arrival of Khrushchev, but the speeches themselves were over in 30 minutes and the Soviet chief spoke for less than 10. He praised the German workers, reiterated his promises of a peace treaty and free city status for West Berlin, but left no doubt the door is still open to negotiation with the West.

The crowd gave him a polite hearing and loudly cheered his references to peace, but to the Canadians seeing such a demonstration for the first time and to visiting West Berliners who have seen them many times before, the meeting was a bit of a let down.

The majority of persons in the crowd were youths and many East German soldiers were on hand. The soldiers, most of them in the early 20s, chatted freely with the Canadians through interpreters and appeared to be out for an evening's entertainment rather than attending in an official capacity.

YELLOW FLORAL DECOR

Yvonne Smith, D. G. Davidson Principals in Pretty Ceremony

Baskets of golden yellow daffodils, forsythia and silver-sprayed ivy leaves banked the altar in the Pentiction United Church Saturday evening to form a pretty setting for the ceremony uniting in marriage Yvonne Smith and David George Davidson.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lamont Smith of Pentiction, is the granddaughter of well-known pioneer Okanagan Valley resident, Mrs. H. H. Whitaker, Pentiction; the late H. W.

D. Smith and the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Foreman. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Davidson, also of this city.

GOWN OF WHITE BROCADE
White brocade taffetas was fashioned into the bride's ball-length gown designed with bouffant skirt and draped bodice featuring a scoop neckline and cap sleeves. A chapel veil of silk illusion misted from a tiara of silver leaves and orange blossoms. She wore a single strand pearl necklace and carried a cascading bouquet of yellow roses and freesia.

Mrs. Arthur Clark attended the bride who was given in marriage by her father. She wore a "Mr. Johns Bow" of Copenhagen blue to match her ballerina length gown and carried Talisman roses.

"H. Scott" Furness was best man and Mrs. Monica Craig Fisher was organist.

THREE-TIER CAKE
A reception for relatives and close friends followed at the El Rancho Motel. The toast to the bride was proposed by Jack R. Morris of Vancouver. The reception table, appointed in silver was centred by a three tier wedding cake and low bowls of daffodils with silver-sprayed ivy leaves. Many friends joined the wedding group later at the home of the bride's parents for a social evening.

The bride wore a blue sheath with beige coat and matching accessories when the newly married couple left on a honeymoon trip to Seattle and other Washington centres. They will take up residence in Pentiction on their return.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Miss Jessie Davidson, Robert Davidson and Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Morris, all from Vancouver; Mrs. F. J. Kirkpatrick and daughters, Arlene, Lana and Shelly, of Field.

FINE FELT FANCY

BY ALICE ALDEN

Welcome back to the fine felt hat, beautifully designed and devoid of extraneous detail. It hasn't been with us for many seasons. To remedy this neglect, William J. has taken handkerchief-soft felt in beautiful colors and manipulated it into a series of striking hats. This one, an abstract seashell, makes an engaging fluted frame for the face. The color is a soft, sun-shiny yellow.

A smart choice... dressy daytime wear in this dress... ribbed silk. The notched, round neckline terminates in a surplice line over the bust. The half belt of matching navy satin has a neat bow at one side. Clever seaming and released folds below the high-placed waistline are figure flatterers and kind to the less-than-perfect silhouette.

IWA Finished in Nfld. Says Premier

By CHARLES BRUCE
 Canadian Press Staff Writer
 GRAND FALLS, Nfld. (CP)—Premier Joseph Smallwood says the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) is through in Newfoundland, that the only question now is this: Will they depart in peace?

The union, despite the premier's passionate opposition in which he unquestionably has wide popular support, and despite the legislative act that finished off its strike, declares it is in Newfoundland to stay.

But on the basis of what is obvious today, the premier has made his point.

In the vast tracts of spruce and fir where for more than two months pickets stood at gateways to the hauling roads—and sometimes fought with men who sought to pass—the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company's hauloff proceeds in normal fashion. It is almost complete.

Among the men who man the tractors and load the wood are many who last Dec. 31 struck with the IWA, and who now belong to the independent Newfoundland Brotherhood of Woods-Workers, the union called into being by Premier Smallwood to supplant it.

South and west are the limits worked by Bowaters, the second great company which with A.N.D. makes up the newsprint industry of Newfoundland, the biggest single slice of the province's economy. There too, activity is normal.

There is a kind of brooding quiet. The feeling is that if trouble strikes the woods again it will come three weeks or a month from now, when the third of the main operations—the drive—begins.

Last summer and fall the wood was cut and piled. This winter, despite the strike, it was hauled—and still is being hauled—to the banks of streams. With the spring breakup it will be driven down to the barkers and grinders and rolling machines that turn it into newsprint.

Clash Between Unions Out in Open at Coast

VANCOUVER — (CP) — A clash between the Fishermen's Union and the Native Brotherhood of B.C. has come into the open here.

The Brotherhood claims the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union Ind. has been raiding its ranks while the Fishermen claim the Brotherhood leaders are trying to stop Indians from joining the union.

The dispute came to light during the UFAWU's convention here.

Some delegates to the meeting also charged that some Brotherhood men are working closely with the Fisheries Association, representing the companies.

Dr. Peter Kelly of Skidegate, chairman of the Native Brotherhood legislative committee, told the UFAWU meeting.

"Native Brotherhood members are free to join as many organizations as they wish."

"But many of our fishermen have religious scruples about joining an organization which was expelled from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada for being Communist-controlled as communism is a bitter enemy of religion."

Adeline Ratchford of Stevenson, UFAWU delegate, said:

"I am a Roman Catholic and I have never been dominated by anyone here. Our organization doesn't dominate us. We dominate it."

THE PENTICTON HERALD 6
 Thursday, March 26, 1959

Union officer Tom Parkin said the UFAWU had never gone out to organize brotherhood members.

"They have come to us because they need our support," he said. "In some areas there are no Brotherhood officers at all and the companies are gypping them."

VALVE FITTINGS are turned out by Henry Martin, an employee of Oliver Industries Ltd., which produces irrigation equipment sold all over the Northwest. Oliver Chemical Co., which this year split to create Oliver Industries, came to Penticton in 1921. It was founded by Mayor Charles Oliver, though now run by his son Wells. (Photo by Redivo)

Earlier Spring Lured Oliver Chemical Here

By DALLAS BRADSHAW

Because Penticton's climate is milder than Vernon's, this town got a new business in 1921. That was the year Oliver Chemical Company started producing spray in Vernon. The season for making spray is short at best, so Penticton's earlier spring was the factor that relocated the business here.

Even so, the spray business alone couldn't carry Oliver Chemical through the year, so the firm was forced to branch out into new experiments and products.

First of these was a fruit canning, ketchup and pickle-making venture. This operation came to an abrupt halt when a train wreck sent the entire load to the bottom of the Coquihalla River.

Next, cider vinegar production was begun. This too was short-lived, lasting only one season. It took 10 years to sell the amount turned out in that time.

Because of the war and the shortage of necessary equipment, the production of John Deere farm machinery and caterpillars was also forced to close.

UPWARD TURN

Charles Oliver hit paydirt in 1944, when he began importing irrigation equipment. Later he switched to making his own improved equipment.

Now the firm sells to customers all over the Pacific Northwest and southern Alberta.

Oliver Industries was the first to introduce irrigation pipe of aluminum in preference to the heavier steel previously used.

They received the first carload ever made in this country.

Headed by Charles Oliver's son, Wells, Oliver Chemical Company is now in the middle of its busy season. Immediately after winter is over the production of lime-sulphur spray begins. The sulphur and lime arrive in carloads from Alberta.

Because the sulphur is in lumps it is first finely ground. After that the mixture travels down a chute into a giant pressure cooker where it mixes with water.

At a temperature of 250 degrees Fahrenheit and pressure of 30 pounds per square inch, the sulphur melts and unites with lime, making lime-sulphur spray.

Besides this solution a green sludge is removed by a filter press. It can be dried and used as a conditioner for alkaline soil.

During the spray-making season the labor force is increased to 23 men. There are 13 regulars, most of whom switch over to spray making from the manufacture of irrigation equipment.

At the beginning of 1958 the Oliver Chemical Company gave birth to Oliver Industries Limited, the division which turns out irrigation equipment. Subsidiary to this is Oliver Plumbing and Heating.

The price of prosperity — sulphur fumes — is claimed by some to be beneficial. Still told is the story of the TB patient who arrived here one spring during the 'thirties.

After spending a few months breathing the air near the plant, he didn't have to return to the sanatorium.

Baghdad Pact Looking for New Name

LONDON (AP) — The Baghdad Pact is looking for a new name following Iraq's withdrawal from the anti-Communist alliance.

Premier Abdel Karim Kassem formally pulled his country out of the alliance in a move seemingly designed to please both the pan-Arab followers of President Nassar and the Soviet Bloc.

The alliance took its name from the Iraqi capital, where the pact was signed in 1955 by Iraq, Iran, Pakistan, Turkey and Britain. But the other four governments and the United States — which supports the alliance but is not a member — already had written off Iraq as a military ally.

Kassem met with Baghdad editors and ordered them to "forget Nassar" and not waste time replying to U.A.R. attacks.

"Within three years," he told the editors, "Iraq will be the most powerful nation in the Middle East."

The Iraqi premier insisted his revolutionary government was still adhering to a policy of positive neutrality. The regime, however, clearly has moved further to the left in recent months.

New Union To Negotiate With Bowater's

CORNER BROOK, Nfld. (CP) — The Newfoundland Brotherhood of Woods-Workers (Ind.) will begin negotiations here in about 10 days with Bowater's Pulp and Paper Mills for a working agreement covering western Newfoundland loggers, it was learned Wednesday.

and president of the brotherhood, confirmed the report in an interview.

Peter Fudge, president of the Corner Brook and District Labor Council (CLC), immediately telegraphed CLC President Claude Jodoin and Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Mr. Fudge urged Mr. Diefenbaker to make certain a "Newfoundland-government sponsored union does not precipitate violence by using police in any mass invasion of woods" in western Newfoundland.

Normally it takes at least sixty years to grow a spruce forest.

College Controversy Flares Up Once Again

WINNIPEG (CP) — Professor Harry S. Crowe resigned from Winnipeg's United College Wednesday, once again focusing attention on a controversy which flared up last year after he wrote a letter to a faculty colleague.

Prof. Crowe was dismissed from the college last September after a letter addressed to Prof. William Packer was intercepted and readmitted to the principal, Dr. W. C. Lockhart.

He was reinstated by the college in December after the controversy achieved national prominence.

Prof. Crowe said Wednesday he was resigning because the college board of regents refused to reconsider the resignations of three of 15 professors and lecturers who tendered their notices in protest over his dismissal. His own resignation takes effect next Aug. 31. The other 12 were withdrawn when Crowe was reinstated.

The three professors are Dr. J. H. Reid, chairman of the history department; Dr. K. W. K. McNaught, history professor, and R. M. Stingle, assistant English professor.

The nature of the letter which kindled the trouble was never made public. However, the board of regents, who saw a copy, said after they dismissed Prof. Crowe that it was "incompatible with the traditions and objectives of United College."

They later retracted 'any statement which may have reflected in any way upon Prof. Crowe's religious views.'

United College, an arts and theology institution, is sponsored by the United Church of Canada.

PRINCIPAL RESIGNED — Dr. Lockhart resigned as principal of the college because of what he termed personal attacks made upon him at the height of the controversy. His resignation also is effective Aug. 31. But it has not been accepted by the regents.

Prof. Crowe declined to say whether he has an appointment at another college or university for next year.

Dr. Lockhart was not available for comment.

After his dismissal, a two-man investigating committee from the Canadian Association of University Teachers said Prof. Crowe was a victim of injustice and should be reinstated.

Negotiations between the board of regents and Crowe, Stingle, Reid and McNaught broke down but later in December Trade

Fears Allayed About Alberta Nuclear Blast

By DON ATTFIELD

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — A government authority says there is nothing to fear from a proposed atomic explosion in Alberta's Athabasca oil sands next year.

Dr. John Convey, director of the federal mines branch and chairman of a government-industry committee has received representations from four groups who say the blast might pollute the atmosphere. The groups were not named.

"You'd think they would give us more credit," said Dr. Convey. "We wouldn't take any chances."

EXAMINE NEVADA BLAST

He said in an interview the feasibility committee, established last month, will go to Nevada in three weeks to examine results of a similar nuclear blast in oil shale there.

If investigations go as expected, Richfield Oil Corporation of Los Angeles would proceed with the northern Alberta explosion next year, perhaps as early as February or March.

Asked whether approval of the federal and Alberta governments is expected, Dr. Convey replied: "We wouldn't be going ahead if it was."

"I don't think there will be any objection, unless the international situation with regard to nuclear explosions changes."

He referred to the possibility of an international ban on such explosions.

COST OF THE PROJECT — preliminary to what could be one of the largest single man-made explosions ever to occur—would be $1,000,000.

LARGEST RESERVE — The Athabasca sands, 250 miles north of Edmonton, are believed to contain more than 300,000,000,000 barrels of oil—almost double the world's total known reserves—over a 30,000-square-mile area.

An underground blast similar to the one in Nevada is expected to create an underground cavity in which oil, parted from the sand by atomic heat, would gather and could be pumped to the surface.

No Rate Hike Until Rail Probe Over

OTTAWA — (CP) — The federal government does not intend to allow any general freight rate increases until its proposed long-range inquiry into railway matters has been completed — in about a year.

Transport Minister Hees gave this information to the Commons as he told the House that Prime Minister Diefenbaker will soon make an announcement on the inquiry.

He said the inquiry, which he indicated might be done by a royal commission, will cover both freight rates and railway policy generally.

He said it is hoped a report from the inquiry body will be available to the government in a year.

"In the meantime," he added, "the government does not propose to permit any further general increase in railway freight rates."

Mr. Hees spoke as he introduced a resolution preceding a bill to provide $20,000,000 from the federal treasury for one year to be used to alleviate the effects of the last general freight rate increase of 17 percent.

KELLY'S CORNER

An aftermath of the recent table tennis tournament sponsored by the Skaha Lake Tennis Club was a get together between Wally Morgan, president of the club and your much abused (at the tournament) reporter.

Perhaps moved by a spirit of compassion after our less than brilliant success in the tourney, Wally dropped around in an attempt to heal our injured pride.

We were magnanimous about it saying it really didn't matter — but immediately sent our small boy out to remove one of the front steps pending Wally's departure.

Fortunately for Wally, the conversation took a turn that influenced us to replace the step and turn on the front porch light.

The change of pace in the discussion came about when we casually mentioned the Skaha Lake Tennis Club.

It seems this topic is dear to the heart of Wally Morgan. We should have realized this, as we recall hearing that some other poor unfortunate who was so indiscreet as to bring the subject up was lead away screaming.

Strangely enough, however, we found ourselves deeply engrossed in what Wally had to say and we feel that you too might like to hear the history of Penticton's only tennis club.

The club, which has had many ups and downs, originated in 1950. It started with one black-top court and then, later in the same year, they built another of concrete.

Things progressed well for several years and then, in 1955, they were fortunate in having another concrete court provided by the Kinsmen Club.

Although they weren't in too strong a position financially, it was the feeling of the club that if they had a clubhouse it would enable them to provide more social activity.

With the thought that this would help to knit the team together they started construction of the present clubhouse.

With some rather high finance and months of back-breaking volunteer labor it was completed in 1956.

In 1957 the club had to tread very lightly due to the expense of constructing the clubhouse the previous year.

As a result of this little or no improvement was done that year or in 1958.

The thing that has been most detrimental to the club is the apparent lack of interest in tennis locally. This has led to a drop-off in membership and necessary curtailment of any expansion or improvement plans.

However, with the facilities the club now has they could still accommodate a much larger membership than they presently have.

They are hoping that this year will see a resurgence of interest and a big increase in membership.

To encourage this they are planning a much fuller social program which will include dances and table tennis and crib tournaments to be held at the club-house.

They also are giving thought to the staging of beach-parties at Skaha Lake which is only a stone's-throw away.

As regards tennis they hope this year to feature some inter-city competition as well as the regular club play and club tournaments.

In talking to Wally there was one thing he wanted us to assure any prospective member. No matter how little one has played, or even if they have never played at all, they will be as welcome as the flowers in May.

Any member of the club will be glad to help or advise a new member and they will be given all the assistance possible to improve their game.

In our conversation Wally also recommended that a new player would be wise to pick up a used racket, many of which are available at the sport-shops in town, for the first while.

In this way joining the club can be reasonable financially. The atmosphere of the club is relaxed and any type of dress is okay. There is no need for white flannels or any other special apparel. Come as you are.

One thing that impressed us during this conversation was the fact that if he could personally contact everyone in Penticton his enthusiasm would make sure the club did not want for members.

As an instance of this, long before the session was over we had started casting about in our mind as to where we could come by a tennis racket.

We are still considering this step, even though we remember quite distinctly an aside passed by a tennis player of note on observing us in our heyday.

His comment still rings in our ears though it wasn't intended for them: "Kelly plays with all the grace and speed of a rheumatic elephant."

Snide remarks like this notwithstanding, we are seriously considering taking up the racket.

So, tally-ho, "Anyone for tennis?"

WHILE ON AN off-beat sport routine at present, there is one more that warrants a little attention.

A nondescript group of stars will be darting off for Vancouver on Friday bent on showing the coast cuties some of the fine points of the old paw-crawlers pastime of darts.

This is scheduled as a return match for one held earlier when a Vancouver aggregation was up and handed the locals the worst trimming in their short career.

Since that time the dart boards at the Canadian Legion have been burning up and we have it on good authority, that, the smarties at the Canadian Legion Branch 16, in Vancouver are in for a rude awakening.

We had originally figured to take part in this safari, but there seems to be two things standing in our way. They are both pretty valid reasons. One is we have to work and the other is that we haven't any money.

After giving serious consideration to them both, we came to the conclusion that the best contribution we could make to the expedition, was to stay here and shout in a loud clear voice. "Good luck and good shooting."

Moore Signs to Meet Durelle

MONTREAL (CP) — Archie Moore, the world's light-heavyweight boxing champion, and Yvon Durelle, who almost had the crown one night last December, are to fight again.

Promoter Eddie Quinn announced Wednesday that the pair who staged one of the century's most exciting fights will try July 15 to top it. The 15-round title fight is scheduled for the Montreal baseball park which can hold 25,000 to 28,000 when rigged for boxing. If Moore loses, he gets a return match.

Queen's announcement has been expected ever since Durelle pounded Moore to the floor four times—three times in the first round—in a fight at the Montreal Forum Dec. 10.

Moore got off the floor and and ducked Durelle for good in the 11th round.

$175,000 GUARANTEE: Moore is reported to have been atre, cent of the gate and television money for the July fight.

Durelle's cut is a guaranteed $15,000, or 20 per cent.

Under arrangements similar to those for the last fight, Durelle's interests take 60 per cent of the gate and television money, and pay out Moore's guarantee or his pay-out.

Moore's manager Jack Kearns said the deal could net Moore $250,000 if the ball park is jammed. It was stated authoritatively that $100,000 in television money has already been guaranteed in the U.S.

Moore weighed in at 210 in Montreal Wednesday and has to be down to the 175-pound limit by fight time. Durelle weighed 205.

In the U.S., the fight will be on regular TV but in Canada TV will be on a closed circuit for the-

DISPUTED LAST SECOND GOAL

Vernon Tops Nelson With Tight 5-4 Win

VERNON (CP) — Merv Bidoski's disputed goal one second before the end of the game gave Vernon Canadians a narrow 5-4 victory over Nelson Maple Leafs Wednesday night before 1,650 fans here.

Nelson leads the best-of-seven Savage Cup series 2-1. The winner represents the province in the Allan Cup playoffs. The next game is here tonight.

Nelson coach Ollie Dorohoy vainly argued with game officials that Bidoski's second, and winning, goal was scored after the final whistle. He was overruled.

Dorohoy said he would file a protest with the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association.

Bidoski's two goals were high for Canadians with Frank King, Jim Moro and Art Hart adding.

Both teams hit the scoring sheet in the second period. Hart tipped the puck in for Vernon off Woods' skate and Hyssop completing a three-way break with Marsh Severn and Mickey Maglio.

At 15:54 of the final period, Hicks picked up George Ferguson's rebound and triggered the tying marker, but with the Leafs anticipating the final bell, Bidoski raced through unmolested for the dramatic winning goal.

Six penalties, including the misconduct were handed out. Vernon outshot Nelson 27-26.

King shot the Canadians into a 1-0 lead at 5:33 of the first period. Minutes later Forester slammed a shot off the top of the Vernon net. Nelson protested referee Paul Bozak's decision that the puck hit the outside of the net and when the protests continued, were given a 10-minute misconduct penalty.

At 11:08 of the period Moro lobbed George Agar's pass into the twine for Canadians' second. But two minutes later Forester cut the margin to one goal on a play with Con Madigan.

Bidoski cleanly beat Nelson goalie George Wood to give Vernon a 3-1 lead. Hyssop, replied with Nelson's second tally.

dominated the opening rounds. Today, the spotlight shifts to the juniors and in this closed event the teen-agers will work through to their showdown matches in singles, doubles and mixed doubles. Age limit is 18.

Canada's hopes in the men's singles now rest with Toronto's Bev Wescott and Jim Carnwath.

Wednesday Wescott won his first two matches with ease, then pulled a surprise by tripping sixth-seeded Don Davis of Baltimore 15-7, 8-15, 15-10.

Carnwath, top-seeded Canadian, drew an opening-round bye and added two victories.

Dick Ball of Baltimore advanced to the eighth only after a stubborn, marathon battle with Harold Moody of Montreal.

Top-seeded Tan Joe Hock of Indonesia didn't have to dig very deep into his bag of tricks as he drew a bye then won a pair.

Other quarter-finalists are Teh Kew San of Malaya, Thanoo Kaddjabbal and Charoen Wadhana-nin, both of Thailand, and Jim Poole of San Diego, U.S. singles champ.

The powerful Devlin sisters of Baltimore overshadowed the field in women's singles with Sue de-lanning Vancouver's Carol Ashby 11-2, 1-10 and Judy disposing of Mrs. Sandra O'Doherty of Montreal 11-3, 11-2.

The field was small and a bye and a win was enough for most to advance to the quarter-finals. Others making the quarters were: Mrs. Kae Grant, Montreal; Marge Shedd, Toronto; Vida Large, Halifax; Dorothy Timline, Toronto; and two Winnipeg girls — Joy Campbell and Ann Murray.

The women's doubles had a tiny field and six teams, including the top-seeded Devlins advanced to the quarters without playing a game.

The mixed doubles was another small field and a handful of matches advanced that category to the quarters. Ball and Sue Devlin reached that stage without playing a game.

Tan and Mrs. Grant had to fight to beat Jack Snyder of Montreal and Miss Large 15-5, 15-9, while Charoen and Gladys Longard of Halifax were thoroughly extended before beating Frank Porter and Jean Hennessy of Toronto 15-10, 13-15, 15-12.

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia amateur wrestling championships will be held here Saturday.

Entries from Esquimalt, Quenel, Kelowna, Trail and Vancouver have forced officials to divide the program into two sessions.

Both teams employed make-shift forward units in the final stages of Boston's 5-0 victory in the series opener here Tuesday night. At one time Leafs had four defencemen on the ice.

Financial

Why?

Today we are going to give you one practical reason for borrowing money on a first mortgage basis.

In a majority of cases where first mortgage money is required, it enables families to realize their dreams for a home. In other cases, it means a new addition for an expanding family. In a small number of cases, it means the opportunity to build or buy a commercial property which will assist them both in their work and from a revenue standpoint.

As well as these particular benefits, the borrowing of mortgage money brings new, fresh capital into your city, which has an indirect effect on all the businesses and all the people in the area. It is not wise, however, to borrow just for that reason alone.

However, in many cases, the use of this money can bring a return far in excess of the interest charged. It is not difficult to realize what a tremendous effect on the economy of your city that this new capital may mean.

For confidential discussion of your mortgage problem, consult Mr. D. H. MacGillivray, Loaning Correspondent, Canada Permanent Mortgage Corporation, 253 Lawrence Avenue, Kelowna, B.C. The representative will be in Penticton on regular occasions as required.

Act to Protect Growers Against Distress Selling

OLIVER — David Pugh, Okanagan-Boundary MP, spoke to the members of the Oliver Progressive Conservative Association this week on the current session of Parliament.

Mr. Pugh said that he felt quite sure that the Agricultural Price Stabilization Act providing for the setting of fair market values for duty purposes would be promulgated in time to be of value to the fruit growers. He said that it brought considerable opposition, even within the government, but despite this and possible retaliatory action by the U.S., he felt that these protective measures against distress selling would be invoked.

The steps leading up to the cancellation of the AVRO Arrow contracts were explained by Mr. Pugh who said that by the time production was such that it could be used at squadron levels, the aircraft would be obsolete. He contended that North American defence must be closely integrated between Canada and the United States. The suggestion of Canada's loss of sovereignty or of American domination was, he said, ridiculous.

Mr. Pugh also touched on the RCMP's part in the Newfoundland land disputes and the Berlin crisis.

After a short question period, refreshments were served by the ladies of the Primrose Club.

OBITUARIES

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Santa Monica, Calif. — Mrs. Catherine Tobin Wright, 87, first of architect Frank Lloyd Wright's three wives.

Washington, N.C. — Rev. Dr. J. G. Joyce, a United Church minister who built a radio transmitter and crystal sets to preach in Newfoundland many years ago.

Toronto — William Clement Fisher, 73, retired vice-president and managing director of S. S. Kresge and Company.

Oliver Driver Fined $150 on Impaired Count

OLIVER — Percy Mather was found guilty of being in charge of a motor vehicle while his condition was impaired when he appeared before Magistrate J. M. Mitchell in Oliver police court.

Mather was fined $150 and costs.

The charge arose from an investigation by RCMP highway patrol, just after midnight Monday, a car parked on the edge of Highway 97, three miles north of Oliver, and found the accused asleep in the car.

RCMP testified that the car smelled of alcohol and that Mather, when ordered to get out, seemed unsteady.

In his defence Mather said he had had several late nights at the Midway Bonspiel and stopped in Osoyoos Monday evening for a few hours playing cribbage with a few friends, also having a social drink or two.

Before setting out for Penticton, he said he bought some sandwiches at a cafe in Osoyoos.

the side of the road to eat the sandwiches and fell into a daze from which he was awakened by the police. He contended that any suspicion of unsteadiness was the result of being awakened suddenly and not as a result of alcohol.

Leach Heads Tax Foundation

TORONTO (CP)—Campbell W. Leach of Montreal, a chartered accountant, was elected chairman of the Canadian Tax Foundation at its annual meeting, succeeding Henry F. White of Toronto.

A 32-man board of governors, comprising chartered accountants and lawyers from every province, was also elected. The board includes:

British Columbia—William M. Carlyle and T. E. H. Ellis, Vancouver; G. Fitzpatrick Dunn, Victoria.

Alberta—W. Fay Anderson and Neil W. German, Calgary.

KINGSTON, Jamaica (Reuters) — The port of Kingston was idle Monday for the second time this week after a strike was called by three unions seeking recognition by employers.

THIS WEEK IN OLIVER

GEORGE WILCOX, Oliver Nurseryman, had visitors drop in last Sunday morning to buy a package of cigarettes at his cafe.

George noticed a helicopter hovering over his house which dropped down and settled in a field a few feet away. A couple of chaps got out, bought some cigarettes and soon were on their way again.

The number of cars recently parked at the Golf Club across the valley indicate that many people are limbering up for the season's opening next week-end. President HENRY RUCK, has promised a good day's sport for Sunday, April 5.

Still on sport, we went in to welcome D. C. O'BRIAN a day or so ago. "D.C." has recently purchased the Oliver Hotel from ED YOUNG. Mr. O'Brian's interests, other than the hotel, lies in breeding race-horses. "D.C." was the owner of Tyhawk who, racing at Paradise Park, Phoenix on Feb. 1, broke the world's record for 6½ furlongs going the distance in 1.14.4 minutes.

Mr. O'Brian presently has four horses in training at Landsdowne Park and is looking for a small farm here to use for breeding purposes.

DAVID PUGH, Okanagan-Boundary MP, is going to be in the valley for two or three weeks and he intends to get around as much as possible to tell people first-hand of the work and accomplishments of the Diefenbaker government.

ESSENTIAL JOB

DUMFRIES, Scotland (Reuters)—A shepherd, Samuel MacMillan, escaped a jail sentence today because the 400 sheep he tends are due to give birth soon. MacMillan escaped with a fine for drunken driving after the judge said he knew shepherds were hard to find in the spring.

The hospitalized veteran is not forgotten by the Canadian Red Cross. His life is made a lot happier through the many projects of Red Cross Veterans' Services.

Sunnybank Holds Second Birthday Party

OLIVER—Mrs. George French, president of Sunnybank WA, and the matron of the home, Mrs. K. Chartrand, welcomed many guests to Sunnybank's second birthday party.

The birthday tea was arranged by the board of management and catered for by the WA under the convenship of Mrs. Ruth Dugan.

A large birthday cake, providing an attractive centre piece, was donated by the Valley Bakery in memory of Miss Margaret Nichol who, until her death recently, was president of the WA.

During the afternoon a scatter-rug was raffled and won by Chester Hutton. Added attraction was a novelty table presided over by Mrs. Albert Millar and Mrs. J. Scholes.

The proceeds from the party, with the exception of those from raffling the rug, will go to the general Sunnybank Fund; those from the rug to the piano purchase fund.

Successful Sale Sponsored by Activity Club

OLIVER — The Activity Club held the regular bi-monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Doug Love Tuesday evening with 14 members present.

The rummage and bake sale held on Saturday was reported very successful with $123.20 realized. The proceeds are being used for the purchase of a suction machine for St. Martin's Hospital.

The Easter Bonnet raffle was drawn with Miss O. Hansen the lucky winner. A donation is being sent to the Girl Guides.

Mrs. Vic Casorso was appointed to the sick and visiting committee.

The next meeting on April 14 will be a social evening with dinner to be held at the Reopel Hotel.

Following the business, a panel discussion was held under the direction of Mrs. Vic Casorso and Mrs. Ron Amos.

Lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. D. Love and Mrs. R. Malcolm.
